

452BC

1912 Dates J-BK

The struggle in Rome during its early period between the patricians, and the plebeians, mark the steady advance of democratic ideas and the recognition of the people in affairs of state

Drawing up of 12 Tables (452BC)
And the overthrow of the decemviri (449BC) mark the earliest advances of democracy in Rome.

The great attacks by plebeians upon the aristocracy from during the following 100 yrs. brought about the complete emancipation of the plebeians from all social and political disabilities.

Later in Roman history the months ceased to be lunar.

The 2nd, 4th, 7th, and 9th month were allotted 30 days; the rest (except Feb) were 31 days long.

The Calends occurred on 1st day of mo.
The Nones on the 5th or 7th day
The Ides on the 13th or 15th day
The day preceding one of these was the eve. The day preceding the eve was the 3d day before the period (not the 2nd as we count)
